

THE WEISKOPF DESIGNED COURSE AT THE CLUB AT SPANISH PEAKS NAMED ONE OF THE TOP TWO NEW PRIVATE GOLF COURSES BY *GOLF DIGEST

BIG SKY, MT (December 5, 2008) – The Tom Weiskopf designed course at The Club at Spanish Peaks, a private residential community, is ranked #2 in Golf Digest's annual “Best New Private Courses” issue, which will hit newsstands in December. The new course at Spanish Peaks features a remarkably diverse combination of holes that showcase a number of Weiskopf’s trademarks – changes of direction from hole to hole, a drivable par four, and risk/reward par fives. The course is accessible to only 395 property owners and their guests.

In the annual issue, the Golf Digest raters and editors compile the top new private courses that feature the best of private golf in extraordinary locations.

“This is a delightful surprise and a tribute to Tom’s creativity and design talent. I told him we wanted a course that is challenging to accomplished players, while being low key and unpretentious – a course that is fun for my wife and me on a Sunday afternoon, and where I can feel comfortable playing with my barefoot granddaughter,” said Jim Dolan, founder of The Club at Spanish Peaks. “And Tom delivered. It is a masterpiece of mountain golf.”

“It is rare for a developer to give the course designer the first choice of land, even before the roads and homes,” said Tom Weiskopf, course designer for The Club at Spanish Peaks. “Jim gave me the opportunity to take full advantage of the natural terrain and the breathtaking views. The result is a course with no parallel fairways, where you’re more likely to see a moose than another foursome, and the awesome grandeur of Montana reveals itself on every fairway.”

“Our first 250 members came for the biggest, best ski experience in the Rockies with phenomenal terrain for every ability and no lift lines, the four million acres of protected wildlands that surround us, and the best fly fishing in America,” said Dolan. “This is a four season community, now recognized with a world class golf course. Our next 250 members will be golfers who love to ski.”

The four-season community is gearing up for an active winter season. With a prime location adjacent to Big Sky Resort, The Club at Spanish Peaks has access to more than 5,712 acres of terrain, the largest ski-able acreage in the country. Two private Spanish Peaks lifts provide access to ten private ski runs within the Club as well as direct access to vast terrain of Big Sky Ski Resort. A private concierge ensures members have a seamless skiing experience by arranging everything - from ski guides for the whole family to ski lessons for the kids. There are endless opportunities for year-round activities at The Club at Spanish Peaks.
